Kansas football opens preseason camp with a new format

BY GARY BEDORE
gbedore@kstar.com

LAWRENCE

Lance Leipold opened his sixth preseason football training camp at Kansas — his 20th overall as a head coach — bright and early Tuesday morning on the practice fields south-east of David Booth Kansas Memorial Stadium.

There was a noticeable difference in Day 1 of the 2026 season versus the first official practice of the 2007 campaign at Wisconsin-Whitewater.

"Just a little bit," Leipold responded to a media member who asked the 62-year-old coach if his KU camp schedule had been "tweaked" this school year. That would be three days on, one day off, versus four days on, one day off.

"As we said a year ago in the spring, we had to look at a lot of different things to make ourselves a better football team, and one of those things is how we practice, the length of practice. How can we be a fresh football team? (How can we) stay healthy in a lot of different ways? So we're looking at it."

"The way the calendar has fallen this year allowed us ... some years we actually reported a day later than we could have,

MIKE GUNNOE Special to The Star

Kansas Jayhawks running back Dylan Edwards (1), a transfer from K-State, runs a drill during the first practice on Tuesday, Aug. 4, 2026, in Lawrence.

which allowed us right away to jump into football meetings and activities," Leipold explained. "Well, yesterday is a day that's an administrative day. We went back to that, but now the way it flows into the first game is that we could be on three-day cycles, and again, our players are excited about it. And as we begin the season, we'll probably share with you more that we can modify some ways that we practice during the week."

KU's first game is against Long Island on Sept. 4 in Lawrence.

"And again, I stood here before and said I've got to be open to new ways and try to find ways that keep us fresh and give us the best chance to win. And I think our fall camp schedule is one of those ways to do it," Leipold said.

In one talk to the team Tuesday, Leipold stated: "Today really starts my 20th year as a head football coach, and today we are on the field for probably 65 minutes of practice. My first practice as a head coach we had 31 periods of five minutes apiece. So times have changed in 20 years and there are different ways to go about it.

"Any day that you're too stubborn to want to change, you're not going to have a chance in this thing. So I feel good about our camp schedule. I like where it's going. I think when we approach game week I think our players will feel a little different than they have in the past."

Leipold was pleased with the Jayhawks on Day 1. The team was greeted with temperatures in the low 80s and sunny skies.

"First of all, it's great to be back out with the guys with helmets on, getting closer to playing real football," Leipold said. "I thought our retention level has been great. With the summer work we were able to get before the time they left last week (for a short break) it's almost like picking up where you left off and kind of keep moving. I think our guys are excited, extremely coachable. I was happy what I saw the first day."

There was some personnel news for Leipold to report after practice Tuesday. Two Jayhawks are set to miss the entire 2026 season because of injury.

Senior defensive tackle TreVon McAlpine, a transfer from Tulane, is out because of a torn ACL incurred in the spring, Leipold said. KU has filed paperwork for a waiver to bring him back next season. The 6-foot-3, 305-pound defensive lineman was second-team all-American Athletic Conference at Tulane in 2025. He played three seasons at Texas Tech.

Sophomore running back Justin Thurman, who tore his Achilles last November, suffered an undisclosed injury early in the summer, Leipold said. He gained 32 yards on four carries at KU last season.

Leipold also said Monday there was no timetable on naming a starting quarterback. Cole Ballard and Isaiah Marshall are the primary candidates.

Washburn coach Brett Ballard 'seriously injured' in an automobile crash

BY PETE GRATHOFF
pgrathoff@kstar.com

Former Kansas guard and current Washburn head coach Brett Ballard was seriously injured in a car crash Tuesday night in Topeka.

The Kansas Highway Patrol crash log said the accident location was mile marker 183 on Interstate 470. It noted Ballard, who was wearing a seatbelt, was taken to Stormont Vail Hospital in Topeka.

"The crash was reported at 8:17 p.m. Tuesday along the Kansas Turnpike on I-470 just west of the Interstate 470-Interstate 70 split," WBTV reported.

Ballard, who is the Washburn men's basketball coach, was driving a Ford F-150 truck in the westbound lanes on Interstate 70 "when it left the roadway and went to the left, struck a delineator or post, the embankment, and then a bridge pillar," according to the crash log.

Washburn University President JuliAnn Mazachek released a statement Wednesday morning, according to WBTV.

"We are deeply saddened to share that Coach Brett Ballard was seriously injured in a car accident last evening," Mazachek said. "Our hearts are with Coach Ballard, his family, the men's basketball program and all who are affected during this difficult time."

"We ask our community to keep them in their thoughts during this time of recovery and to respect the family's privacy. The university will share additional information when appropriate."

Ballard was a member of the Jayhawks' 2002 Final Four team coached by Roy Williams. He was then on Bill Self's KU staff, working his way from volunteer student assistant to director of basketball operations. Ballard later coached Baker University, then joined Danny Manning's staff at Tulsa and Wake Forest.

Washburn hired Ballard as head coach ahead of the 2017 season. Under Ballard, the Ichabods have made five NCAA postseason tournament appearances in eight seasons and have a 167-79 record.

Garcia receives injection for left-hand injury

BY JAYLON THOMPSON
jathompson@kstar.com

Kansas City Royals third baseman Maikel Garcia received a cortisone injection after consultation with a hand specialist this week.

Garcia, 26, has been sidelined since June 23 with a left-hand muscle strain. And recently, Garcia returned from a rehab assignment due to discomfort while swinging a bat.

The injury would affect Garcia at the plate. If he took an awkward swing or fouled off a baseball, he would feel a stinging sensation.

And now, the Royals have more clarity on the status of the injury.

"They found, you know, a similar area that had kind of not resolved yet," Royals manager Matt Quatraro said. "They found a more specific, smaller area that they were able to give him a cortisone injection, which we think will calm it down."

Garcia is set for 4 to 5 days with no activity. And from there, he will begin a progression towards a return to action.

"He'll ramp back up for another five days or so and hopefully, he'll be able to, if everything goes smoothly, be able to get back into games," Quatraro said.

Garcia has appeared in 69 games this season. He is hitting .261 with three homers and 30 RBIs in 268 at-bats.

The Royals have gone

13-21 since the injury. And in his stead, the Royals have utilized Nick Loftin and Josh Rojas at third base.

Garcia spoke in-depth about the injury. He initially felt discomfort against the St. Louis Cardinals in May at Busch Stadium. From there, he played through the injury until he was ultimately sidelined.

"Honestly, it's weird because they don't have like a definite time to get better because it's a muscle tear," Garcia said at the time of the injury. "I can take two weeks, then get back into a game and my first swing can hurt."

Now, Garcia will hope the injection will take hold. He is among 12 players currently on the Royals' injured list.

The Kansas State Wildcats football helmet.

Ohio State transfer joined K-State a year ago. He's still trying to get healthy

BY KELLIS ROBINETT
krobinett@wichitaonline.com

MANHATTAN

It remains unclear when Kansas State offensive lineman George Fitzpatrick will play his first game with the Wildcats inside Bill Snyder Family Stadium.

"He still has some benchmarks to hit that (were set by) he and his family and some of the specialists that they have visited with, along with our team doctors," K-State football coach Collin Klein said this week. "We are kind of working through that process. Not quite there yet."

K-State football fans have been patiently waiting more than a year to catch their first glimpse of Fitzpatrick, a 6-foot-6 and 301-pound transfer from Ohio State, wearing purple and blocking on the offensive line.

He was forced to miss all of last season while he recovered from a "medical situation" that he suffered during summer workouts.

Many hoped that he would be ready to make a healthy return this season, especially after he decided to remain with the team for another year of football rather than transfer or medically retire.

But there is apparently no timetable for his return to college football, if it happens at all.

Klein spoke positively about the medical status of Fitzpatrick during spring practices. He has remained a good teammate during his time away from the field.

Fitzpatrick has watched the Wildcats from the sideline, and he has participated in workouts when he was physically able to do so. The Wildcats would certainly like to add him to their rotation on the offensive line.

Former K-State football coach Chris Klieman gave Fitzpatrick high praise during the spring of 2025 and even anointed him as the team's projected starter at left tackle heading into last season. But he ended up missing all 12 of the team's games as he was hospitalized before the start of training camp.

He is now back with the team and working hard in preseason workouts. But his medical status remains uncertain. The Wildcats will have to wait and see if they will have an extra offensive lineman this season.

LOS ANGELES

After facing two-time Cy Young winner Tarik Skubal in Monday's loss, the Royals dued with left-hander Blake Snell — another multiple Cy Young recipient.

Snell returned from the 60-day injured list and didn't miss a beat, recording 10 strikeouts across six innings.

The Royals (49-72) flied 38% of the time against Snell, per Baseball Savant. He generated 38 swings, 16 called strikes and 15 whiffs in his return start.

Snell took a no-decision, but the Dodgers beat the Royals 5-4 in 10 innings. L.A.'s Max Muncy hit a walk-off single as the Royals dropped the first two games of the three-game series.

"You have to do the little things when you face a World Series team like the Dodgers," Royals captain Salvador Perez said. "You have to be right with everything. That's the kind of opportunity that they are looking for."

"We didn't do our job, and they have been there before. That's the reason they have won back-to-back World Series. Best team in the league right now."

AN 8TH-INNING RESURGENCE

The Royals scored three runs against the Dodgers' bullpen in the eighth inning.

Jac Caglianone and Perez hit RBI singles off Dodgers right-hander Evan Phillips. Caglianone soon scored the a-go-ahead run on some heads-up baserunning.

After Carter Jensen flew out to deep center field, Caglianone tagged from second base and kept running toward home as outfielder Andy Pages fumbled the baseball out of his glove.

Caglianone sprinted to third base and Royals third-base coach Vance Wilson aggressively waved him home.

The run gave the Royals a late lead and took Royals starter Michael Wacha off the hook — he allowed two runs in the seventh inning.

"When you play a team like this, you've got to play a perfect game plan," Royals shortstop Bobby Witt Jr. said. "So you've just got to go out there and keep competing. And you make a little mistake or don't do your job, and that's when they take advantage of you."

Wacha was dominant early before running out of gas. In the second, Dodgers star Mookie Betts belted a solo homer. And in the seventh, L.A. rode three doubles to a two-run lead.

Betts got the seventh inning started with a one-out double. Two batters later, Alex Call drove him in with another double. Pinch-hitter Teoscar Hernandez hit the third double.

Wacha was charged with all three runs but still earned his 16th quality start — most in the American League. He has pitched six or more innings in 18 of his 24 starts this year.

"You know, tough AB (to Alex) Call there in the seventh," Wacha said. "They found a hole with the fastball. And yeah, Teoscar (Hernandez), bad slider to him. Kind of middle in and he was able to drive in another run. Definitely wish I could've finished up that last inning a little stronger."

The Royals' offense manufactured a fourth-inning run against Snell. Witt had KC's first hit of the evening and later scored on Perez's sacrifice fly. That tied the game at 1-1.

Clinging to a 4-3 lead, the Royals turned to reliever Steven Cruz for the eighth inning.

Cruz allowed a run. Betts hit an RBI single after the reliever walked a man and hit another with a pitch.

Royals right-hander Nate Pearson sent the game to extra innings with his performance in the ninth. He recorded two strikeouts, sitting down superstar Shohei Ohtani to end the inning.

"That was big-time stuff," Royals manager

Matt Quatraro said of Pearson. "I mean, he's thrown the ball exceptionally well since we've acquired him. He's built a lot of confidence. He's built up his stamina and he was really impressive."

ANOTHER MISSED OPPORTUNITY

The Royals had a chance to win the game in extras. But they couldn't score Kyle Isbel from second base.

Nick Loftis' lineout to right field advanced Isbel to third. Witt hit a shallow fly ball to right, but Isbel couldn't score on the play. Then Perez grounded out against Dodgers reliever Seth Halverson.

"I've got to do my job there and that's it," Witt said.

The Royals were unable to score the go-ahead run, but the Dodgers (72-49) made the most of their chance: Muncy hit the game-winning RBI single with the bases loaded.

"It was never not a game," Quatraro said. "Guys compete and you know they didn't quit. And (when) you get walked off, it's really tough."

What's next: On Wednesday, Royals left-hander Daniel Lynch IV (4-3, 2.45 ERA) will make his second start since moving back into the starting rotation. He will oppose Dodgers lefty Eric Lauer (6-6, 4.89 ERA). First pitch is set for 9:10 p.m. Central Time.

period, which saw Patrick Mahomes look wide receiver Cyrus Allen's way with his first two passes. Allen beat Williams to the left flat on the first pass of the period.

Allen has progressed from his shin bruise to what appears to be close to full-go status at practice.

After a quick pass to running back Brashard Smith, defensive end Felix Anudike-Uzomah thumped him to the ground.

Justin Fields had passes broken up by Kristian Fulton and Jaden Hicks during the period. Rookie cornerback D'Arcus Perkins-McAllister broke up one of Garrett Nussmeier's passes.

During their next 11-on-11 period, the Chiefs worked through some third-and-short scenarios.

Mahomes started with a quick pass to Rashee Rice, who looked like he might have had a lane to take it the distance. Hicks broke up a Mahomes pass to Noah Gray, but Hicks could have tugged Gray before making the play.

Wide receiver Xavier Loyd made a magnificent one-handed catch on a Nussmeier ball thrown behind him on a crosser.

Generally, the Chiefs have some good options at receiver beyond the top six, should they make it through to the practice squad.

The Chiefs finished practice with a long-drive period beginning at their own 1-yard line.

After back-to-back runs for Kenneth Walker, Mahomes threw a pass to Walker in the left flat that he bobbled but caught before dropping two straight passes. Allen was featured on a jet sweep.

Wide receiver Jimmy Holiday made a diving catch on a deep ball from Fields.

At the conclusion of each long-drive period, the Chiefs called a couple of run plays, with the offense and defense moving at walk-through speed — likely providing the offensive line an opportunity to work on its gaps and tracks while the defense practiced its run fits.

Earlier in the workout, during 7-on-7, Mahomes targeted Travis Kelce on back-to-back passes. The first was broken up by Chamarrri Conner, but the second went for a decent gain after Tyquan Thornton cleared out the defense.

Williams broke up a Mahomes pass intended for Allen, and linebacker Cole Christiansen broke up a Fields pass. Rookie safety DeShon Singleton dove to pick off Nussmeier.

Generally on the day, I thought the pass-catchers were a little less sure-handed than coach Andy Reid would have liked.

RUN-PERIOD ROTATION

With Mahomes and the first team, Walker took the first two carries, followed by two from Brashard Smith.

For what I believe to be the first time all camp, Emmitt Johnson saw the third touch — a single carry before Emari Demercado came on for one. Walker finished with two more rushes before Mahomes went to the other field.

With the second team, Demercado had the first touch, followed by one for Brashard Smith and two for Johnson.

Jadyn Ott and EJ Smith each had a carry with the third team.

TARGET PRACTICE: MAHOMES IN 7-ON-7, 11-ON-11

Mahomes in 7-on-7: wide receiver Jalen Royals (4), wide receiver Tyquan Thornton (3), wide receiver Cyrus Allen (2), tight end Travis Kelce (2), wide receiver Rashee Rice (2), wide receiver Andrew Armstrong

Mahomes in 11-on-11: running back Kenneth Walker (3), wide receiver Cyrus Allen (2), wide receiver Rashee Rice (2), wide receiver Andrew Armstrong, tight end Jake Brunningstool, tight end Noah Gray, wide receiver Nikko Remigio, running back Brashard Smith, tight end Jared Wiley

INJURY REPORT

Repeating Monday's injury list, defensive end Ashton Gillette (hamstring) and wide receiver Xavier Worthy (shoulder) were on the field for warmups and individual drills but left before team periods.

Right guard Trey Smith (hip), cornerback L.J. Sneed (lower-body management) and linebacker Drue Tranquill (back) did not practice. Reid confirmed Monday that Smith's injury should be considered short-term.

Omar Norman-Lott (ACL) — who remains on the Physically Unable to Perform (PUP) list — worked off to the side.

LeBron James, 76ers to face reigning champion Knicks in season opener

BY ALEX BUTLER
UPL.com

LeBron James and the Philadelphia 76ers will face the New York Knicks as part of an NBC triple-header to open the 2026 NBA season, the league announced Tuesday.

Cade Cunningham and the Detroit Pistons will host Jayson Tatum and the Boston Celtics to launch the NBA's regular-season campaign at 3 p.m. EDT Oct. 20 in Detroit.

NBA Finals MVP Jalen Brunson and the Knicks will host the 76ers in the next game at 7 p.m. at Madison Square Garden, where they will raise their championship banner.

Victor Wembanyama and the NBA Finals runners-up San Antonio Spurs will host back-to-back MVP Shai Gilgeous-Alexander and the Oklahoma City Thunder in the nightcap at 9:30 p.m. in San Antonio.

The NBA announced several other matchups, including several for the opening week and Christmas.

Giannis Antetokounmpo will make his Miami Heat debut against the Minnesota Timberwolves at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 21 in Miami. LaMelo Ball also will make his Timberwolves debut in that meeting.

Luka Doncic and the Los Angeles Lakers will host Stephen Curry and the Golden State Warriors at 10 p.m. the same night in Los Angeles. Those two matchups will air on ESPN.

James and the 76ers will face one of his former teams, the Cleveland Cavaliers, at 7 p.m. Oct. 22 in Philadelphia. The Thunder will host Nikola Jokic and the Denver Nuggets at 9:30 p.m. Oct. 22 in Oklahoma City. Those games also will air on ESPN.

The Celtics will host the Knicks at 7 p.m. Oct. 23 in Boston. The Spurs will host Kevin Durant and the Houston Rockets at 9:30 p.m. Oct. 23 in San Antonio. Those matchups will air on Prime.

The NBA's ABC/ESPN

Christmas slate features most of the aforementioned teams. The Knicks will host the Spurs in the first matchup at noon EST Dec. 25. Other Christmas matchups include Heat-Celtics, 76ers-Lakers, Thunder-Timberwolves and Nuggets-Warriors.

The full NBA schedule will be released at 3 p.m. Thursday.

THE WORLD'S LIGHTEST WHEELCHAIR

For those of us—or our loved ones—who are finding our mobility slowing down and may need the use of a wheelchair, there's a remarkable breakthrough that's changing lives. The Featherweight Wheelchair, weighing just 13 pounds, is nothing like the bulky, heavy models of the past that can weigh over 35 pounds. Imagine lifting your wheelchair in and out of a car without straining your back, gliding effortlessly through your garden, joining your family at the park, or going for a medical checkup, without the worry of fatigue. Why not take the first step toward renewed independence with this ultra-lightweight innovation?

In recent years, we've seen great advancements in mobility aids—from canes and walkers to rollators and scooters—all designed to help people stay active and independent. But until now, there hasn't been a truly revolutionary wheelchair. That's changed thanks to a team of engineers who've created something extraordinary: the world's lightest wheelchair, weighing only 13.5 pounds. Aptly named the Featherweight Wheelchair, this breakthrough has already been called a game-changer by those who use it.

The first thing you'll notice about the Featherweight is just how incredibly light it is. At only 13.5 pounds, it's easy for just about anyone to lift into a car, store at home, or take on the go. It's not only lightweight but also strong, stylish, and easy to maneuver. The lighter the chair, the easier it is to push, propel, and lift. With its sleek design and custom color options, the Featherweight Wheelchair isn't just practical—it's something you'll feel good about using every day.

Skubal

highly anticipated regular-season game was over. The potential presented by Skubal’s overwhelming power, as well as the perils of being an overwhelming favorite, were on display for a sold-out crowd of more than 40,000 and a national television audience.

If this Los Angeles team is indeed ruining baseball en route to a third consecutive World Series championship and perhaps a lockout, it’ll only do so after taking the entire sport’s best shot. “Everyone can’t play here for the Dodgers,” Dodgers manager Dave Roberts said of the pressure.

There is a target on these Dodgers unlike their last two predecessors that won titles, and it got bigger when they acquired the best pitcher in baseball.

That reality confronted Skubal almost as soon as he walked inside Wrigley Field on Tuesday, even though he’s now another superstar on a roster filled with them.

A plane flew around the stadium a few hours before first pitch carrying a banner that read “The Dodgers ruined baseball.” It was sponsored by Under-

Cubs shortstop Dansby Swanson and second baseman Nico Hoerner both homered off Tarik Skubal in his Dodgers debut loss. KAMIL KRZACZYNSKI/IMAGN IMAGES dog Sports, a daily fantasy sports and predictions market operator. There was just one problem: The banner was upside down.

Skubal said he struggled to fall asleep Monday night. “It felt like my major league debut,” he explained.

Roberts admitted before the game that Skubal “just wants to get this first one out of the way.” “Yeah, it’s one of 162 but I do think Tarik Skubal making a start for the Dodgers is a big deal for baseball,” Roberts said of the moment. So then Skubal struck out Cubs star center fielder Pete Crow-Armstrong looking with a 99 mph fastball to start the game.

A solo home run by Dansby Swanson was the lone hit of substance Skubal allowed before the sixth inning, even though his strike rate was the lowest it had been in three years.

Then came a sequence seemingly set up for Skubal’s first fist-pumping, adrenaline-fueled celebration in a Dodgers uniform. He had nearly escaped his only jam when he fired a four-seam fastball at the top of the strike zone that Nico Hoerner hit directly into the dirt. The ball traveled just 1 foot in the air, according to the official scorer, but then bounced so high into the Chicago night that Hoerner had nearly reached first base by the time it settled into the glove of Dodgers infielder Tommy Edman. A run scored and a 1-1 stalemate was broken.

Skubal finished having pitched six innings and given up two runs on four hits, with six strikeouts, in his first game with the Dodgers. He was on the hook for the loss, but “there’s nothing he really throws that you can hit hard,” Hoerner said with a laugh.

That, of course, is why the Dodgers traded for Skubal. It’s why he could command $400 million as a free agent after this season.

It’s also why nobody is ready to make this easy on them.

Bell

“I don’t care about the criticism from people like that,” Rodgers said. “Most people have made up their mind about me, so it doesn’t matter what I say. It’s not going to change their mind because most people aren’t listening to the content of your words. They’re wanting to attack your character because they think you’re MAGA or they think you’re whatever tag they put on you – conspiracy theorist, anti-science. They’ve already made up their mind about me before this.”

As we sat in the shade on a bench outside the locker room following a training camp practice on Aug. 4, Rodgers, 42, reflected on myriad topics as he gears up for a 22nd and final NFL season. He mentioned that the chance to reunite with coach Mike McCarthy was the reason he returned after contemplating retirement and was nostalgic about their experience of winning Super Bowl 45 together with the Green Bay Packers. He shed light on reconnecting with his parents and older brother. And he expressed optimism about the Steelers developing into a title contender.

For all of that, though, Rodgers maintained that he is compelled to get a few things off his chest. Or sling a few darts, if you will.

Rodgers on Mike Vrabel-Dianna Russini drama

That was the mindset attached to his appearance with McAfee, when he not only blasted Fauci but had pointed comments about the Mike Vrabel-Dianna Russini drama. He criticized ESPN for not engaging in deeper coverage of the scandal that involved the New England Patriots coach and one of the network’s former reporters (who was more recently with The Athletic), and questioned the integrity of voting for annual awards, given that Russini was a member of the 50-person Associated Press panel that determines the NFL Coach of the Year and other league honors.

“For me, it’s just about leveling the playing field with a little get-back, based on the hypocrisy that I’ve seen for so many years, especially from some of the big networks,” Rodgers said. “And I don’t care. You don’t have to listen to me. You don’t have to agree with me. I mean, I’m not doing it for the likes. “I’m just, I’m saying my piece. This is my last year. If you like it, great. If you don’t like me, great. Doesn’t bother my day-to-day.” So there. The Last Ride will come with some Last Words from Rodgers. Of course, depending on where else this goes, it could make the Steelers and the NFL a bit nervous, given their desires to float apolitically as a matter of principle to try to avoid turning off large segments of the fan base. And remember, there are also politics in play, real or perceived, when considering some or all of the networks referred to by Rodgers, one of the NFL’s highest-profile players, are NFL partners. After Rodgers’ comments on the ESPN-distributed show on Monday, the Steelers released a down-the-middle statement from team spokesman Burt Lauten that provided cover for the quarterback but distance for the team. “Discussions around culture and politics can bring differing perspectives, and our players are entitled to their own personal views,” Lauten said. “With respect to that, I am certain there are a variety of opinions on many topics within our locker room.” Of course, another topic that Rodgers’ broached – voting for NFL awards – hit home. Rodgers won his fourth NFL MVP Award for the 2021 season by a landslide yet is likely still salty that longtime Chicago-based writer Hub Arkush publicly declared at the time that he wouldn’t vote for the quarterback because of Rodgers’ misleading comments about his vaccination status, which led to him missing a game during the pandemic-affected 2020 season. That Russini was a voter, at least in recent years, for awards that include MVP, Coach of the Year and other season honors, didn’t sit well with Rodgers. “This is not a little thing,” Rodgers said. “The fact that there’s voting involved ... it makes other people in

Aaron Rodgers family reunion

Then there’s the family business. In July, Rodgers posted photos on Instagram of himself posing with his parents, Ed and Darla, and his older brother, Luke, for the first time since he launched the social media account in 2017. The reconciliation, Rodgers acknowledged recently to NFL Network, was inspired by his wife, Brittani, who was not shown in the photos.

While he wouldn’t delve deep into the family matters – the apparent rift became public when his brother, Jordan, spoke of the strained relationship in 2016, as a contestant on “The Bachelorette” – Rodgers said the timing was right to reveal that part of his personal journey.

“I feel like it was part of the full-circle nature of this last season for me,” he said. “There’s been a narrative out there. There’s not been a lot of information that’s truthful about it. And I think that the personal life should stay personal and private.

“But I feel like it was part of the full-circle to just one time post something, and never again. So that that narrative can finally be put to rest.”

Chasing another ring

Sure, this Last Ride for Rodgers is deeper than using his huge platform to air grievances or set the record straight. He wants to win big again, too. After a drubbing from the Houston Texans in the AFC wild-card round provided a pitiful end to last season – Rodgers’ first with the Steelers and Mike Tomlin’s last – there’s something to be said, too, about chasing the ring again. “Using the term, ‘chasing the ring’ is usually applying to, like, old guys, like LeBron (James) going to Philly and me still hanging around,” Rodgers said. “But if you’re not doing that, what are you doing?” “I mean, I was chasing the ring when I was in the first year starting, but our team wasn’t the team in ‘08 that was probably championship-caliber. I think you know expectations are high here, which they always were in Green Bay. I think we’ve got the team that can do it.” Imagine that. Rodgers riding off into the sunset in championship glory. Now that would be some kind of a last word. Follow Bell on X: @JarrettBell acclaimed as one of the most successful managers in the history of the game.

“Never in my wildest dreams,” he says, “did I think this would happen. And now, to be talked about with some of the greats that led their organizations to championships, my goodness.”

Roberts breaks into a slow smile and exhales, wondering himself how he’s been able to survive this grind for a decade and still have the same energy and enthusiasm as if he’s a teenager who got a free pass to Disneyland.

The relentless demands, motivating his team for months, staying in constant contact with the front office, answering questions from the largest media throng in baseball before and every game, managing 162 regular-season games and then the postseason microscope.

If the Dodgers win the World Series as they have the last two years, Roberts simply has done his job.

If the Dodgers aren’t the last team standing, the season is a failure.

It’s hardly fair, but it comes with the job as manager of the richest and most powerful team in the sport, where the pressure can be relentless.

“The best part of my day,” he quietly says, “is the national anthem. All of the prep, the conversations, and everything else is over. But once I hear the national anthem, then it’s just about a one-game competition: us versus them.”

There will be precious free time for Roberts these next two months, but for 45 minutes, he carved out time to bare his feelings in a wide-ranging interview with USA TODAY Sports.

He talks about a book that he’s writing, how long he plans to keep managing his exasperation from those underestimating his managerial and tactical skills, his annoyance over the Manager of the Year award, potentially coaching in the Olympics, the debate on whether the Dodgers are ruining baseball and the legacy he wants to leave behind.

Roberts, who signed a four-year, $32.4 million contract extension through 2029, originally intended to manage just through the contract and walk away as one of the few to go out on his own terms. Now, he has changed his mind. He wants to keep going. For how long, he doesn’t really know, but he wants to make an indelible impact, not only with the Dodgers, not only in baseball, but in life.

It’s this desire that has Roberts writing a book that will be released next spring, “Relentlessly Positive.”

“It’s not a memoir,” Roberts says. “There’s no top-secret stuff. It’s just an opportunity for me to kind of have my voice in something positive, and something that people in all walks of life could pull from. There’s so much negativity in the world, but I want this to be something that touches executives, regular people, leaders, people that want to be leaders. Things that are not always tangible or you can quantify, but matter. It’s just my overarching thoughts on cultured leadership.”

Roberts, the son of a Black father, who was a career United States Marine Corps master gunnery sergeant, and Japanese mother, has been relentlessly positive his entire life. He was a 28th-round draft pick from UCLA who had a 10-year career. He overcame Stage II Hodgkin’s lymphoma in 2010. He spent six years in the San Diego Padres front office and coaching staff before anyone would even interview him for a managerial job. The Dodgers called but their first choice was Gabe Kapler. Roberts got the job, anyway, in 2016.

While the Padres have since gone through six managers, Roberts is already the Dodgers’ fourth-longest tenured manager in franchise history.

“This is a tough job managing us with all of the personalities in here,” Dodgers World Series hero Miguel Rojas tells

Dave Roberts hopes to lead the Dodgers to their third consecutive World Series title, accomplished only by two AL franchises. MARK J. REBILAS/IMAGN IMAGES

USA TODAY Sports. “He deals with so much stuff, but he keeps things under control. This is the only clubhouse I’ve been a part of that everybody is happy with their job. You know how hard that is to have 26 guys on the same page, and guys who want to play every day. But he does a really good job of making everybody understand where they are. He always has a good touch on when and how to send a message.”

Roberts called out his team Aug. 10 during their 1-8 stretch, imploring them to wake up if they want that first-round bye. He had a private meeting a week ago with their position players reminding them that what they’ve done winning the last two World Series doesn’t mean a damn thing this year.

“He told us that he’s happy and proud, really fortunate that he had the opportunity to manage back-to-back championship teams,” Rojas said, “but he also said that he could care less about the last two years. He wants to win so bad. That’s the motivator he is. He’s still hungry to win this year and wants everybody else to be hungry. He told us that we have the opportunity to do something historic, so let’s take advantage of it.”

The Dodgers could become the first National League team to win three consecutive World Series championships, a feat accomplished only by the New York Yankees and Oakland Athletics in the American League.

Who knows, maybe a third consecutive title will get folks’ attention that perhaps Roberts should be considered in the same vein as Walter Alston and Tommy Lasorda before him. He has the greatest winning percentage (1,015-624, .619) of any manager in history, the only NL manager to reach the postseason in each of his first 10 seasons, and has the third-most postseason victories (69), behind Hall of Famers Joe Torre (84) and Tony La Russa (71).

“It’s interesting, because when you’re a focus, when you’ve had success, there’s always going to be people that try to minimize things,” Roberts says, “or downplay or hate on what you do. But I think for me, I think it’s more of just focusing internally on the things that are important.”

He tries not to let it bother him, but it’s frustrating knowing that unless the Dodgers suddenly go in the tank one year or dramatically slash their payroll, it’s virtually impossible for Roberts to win the NL Manager of the Year award ever again. He won it in 2016 and only once has finished higher than fourth place since 2017. He won the last two World Series and finished seventh in the balloting in 2024 and didn’t receive a vote last year.

“In all honesty, I felt Pat Murphy [of the Brewers] should have won the last two years,” Roberts says. “He deserved to be the National League Manager of the Year. But the thing that drives me crazy is that I’m not even considered in the top five. I think that’s absurd.

“It just speaks to what people feel that it’s a turnkey operation.”

It’s infuriating that just because you’re considered a “players’ manager,” you can’t also be a shrewd or strategist.

The Dodgers were on the brink of elimination in 2024 in their NL division series against the San Diego Padres and had no available starters. They went with a bullpen game, used eight relievers, won 8-0, then won the World Series having only three healthy starters.

“He’s the best I’ve ever seen the way he runs a bullpen,” Dodgers veteran reliever Evan Phillips said. “He knows when to deploy a guy, what role is suited for a guy that particular day, protecting guys, and challenging guys too. That’s why you see guys like Tanner Scott and Edwin Diaz who sign here wanting to be a part of this.”

It was no different than with future Hall of Fame manager Dusty Baker, the only one to lead five teams to the postseason, while winning 2,183 games and a World Series championship.

“It was so frustrating,” Roberts said, “to hear people always say, ‘Dusty is a great players’ manager. He’s so fun. He’s so positive. He can relate so well to his players. What a great guy.’

“I don’t know if it’s the color of his skin or what, but no one ever talked about how good of a tactician he was. That always bugged me.”

Roberts, who along with Baker and Cito Gaston are the only Black managers to win a World Series, wants to be known not only as one the game’s finest managers but also someone who left an impact on the game.

This is why he has changed his mind and wants to continue managing after his contract expires. He’s still young, and why leave when he can make a difference?

“From the studies I’ve seen, I think the male brain is continuing to excel and be sharp until you’re in your early 60s,” Roberts says. “So, for me, at 54, I still think I’m on an upward trajectory with my enthusiasm, my positivity, my brain, my sharpness. That’s why CEOs are in their 60s and they still have that ability.

“So I don’t want to close that door.”

Besides, as long as Roberts enjoys the gig, and still has the passion, why leave?

“I love people and I love this game of baseball,” Roberts said. “I love it more than my first day in Jamestown, New Young, in 1994. I feel that I’m a steward of this game, and I want to see it grow. I want to move this game forward. When you hear me, I don’t just speak specifically to the game, I try to speak beyond the game. That’s what I’m chasing.”

And what better way to grow the game, Roberts believes, than having major league players participate in the 2028 Olympics for the first time.

And he has the perfect guy for that Olympic managing job.

He sees him in his mirror every day.

The Olympic Games will be at Dodger Stadium, where he has an office. He played in the Pan Am Games in 1999 that qualified the USA Team for the 2000 Olympics with Lasorda leading the minor league players to the gold medal. And there’s not a more successful manager in the game.

“I know there are a lot of great candidates out there,” Roberts said, “but that would mean so much to me. I would love to do that, wear U-S-A across my chest.”

That Olympic dream, of course, is two years away.

In the meantime, he’s got another World Series or two to win.

“This is the golden era of Dodger baseball, and to win it again,” Roberts said, “this core group of people will be talked about forever. You could put it up against the ’27 Yankees, and that era, and debate it forever.”

Is people's Dodgers hate good for baseball?

Just like now, fans all over the sports landscape can debate whether the Dodgers are good or bad for the game. Is it good to have a team that has a brilliant front office, a future Hall of Fame manager, and a payroll four times the size of some other teams? Or is it good to have a villain, just like the Yankees during their dynasty, the New England Patriots in their Super Bowl run, or the Boston Celtics in their golden era?

“When I hear people debating that,” Roberts said, “I think that’s a great thing for the game. It’s great for fans. At least they’re talking about baseball and not football. I’d rather them hate us than be talking about the Cowboys.

“I remember going in with a small winery (Red Stich Wine) in 2007, and we’re going over the blend, I asked my winemaker, ‘Is there any competition. Is there another brand like ours that people may drink?’ He says, ‘Davie, let me tell you something, in the wine business, if people are drinking wine, we all win.’

“So if you love baseball, you talk about baseball. You can philosophize on it. Theorize on it. Debate it. Sure, I would love for them to love the Dodgers, but man, even if you hate us, you’re talking about baseball, and that’s a win for all of us.”

Maybe one day, as the playoff berths and championships keep mounting, they’ll be talking about Roberts, too.

You don’t see him throwing temper tantrums on the bench, getting into the face of umpires, or putting on a show to make it about him.

He just quietly leads, and not only is beloved by everyone in the game, but respected by every player in his clubhouse. He doesn’t take the credit nor does he ever throw his players under the bus, he simply demands professionalism.

“I tell myself every day, ‘Please, Lord, don’t make it about me,’” Roberts says. “Really, I fight that every single day because I don’t want my ego to bleed into decision-making. That was the great thing about Dusty, his humility. He just always made it about the players, but some people get some notoriety and success, and they want to make it about themselves.

“I’m very mindful of stuff like that. Be positive. Stay humble. Don’t change.”

He never will.

Architectural Design
Services
Interior Building Remodel /
Tenant Improvement
Proposals Due August 19, 2026
Request for Proposals

1. Project Overview
Klickitat County Emergency Medical Station (KCEMS) is seeking proposals from qualified architectural firms to provide design services for the remodel and tenant improvement of an existing building located at 206 W. Broadway, Goldendale, Washington, to be converted into an EMS station. The existing space is approximately 3,000 sq ft.

The project consists of interior renovation and limited site work to convert the existing building into a fully functional EMS station, including two ambulance bays, crew sleeping quarters, and supporting facilities. The building will be permitted and designed to meet R-1 occupancy requirements, and the project will include a Conditional Use Permit (CUP) application to allow temporary, shift-based overnight crew stays which the Owner is pursuing. The selected firm will work collaboratively with KCEMS, its owner's representative, applicable regulatory agencies, and other project stakeholders.

2. Scope of Work
The selected architect will provide full design services through construction, including but not limited to:

- Existing conditions assessment and building code analysis (R-1 occupancy)

- Schematic design, design development, and construction documents
- Interior renovation design for: two (2) ambulance bays, full restroom with shower, two (2) bunk rooms, kitchen, and day room
- Site plan design, including a 10-space on-site parking layout at the rear of the building
- Coordination with structural, mechanical, electrical, and plumbing sub-consultants as needed
- Preparation of support of pre-application and permitting materials for the City of Goldendale Planning and Building Department for the Conditional Use Permit application
- Construction administration services, including submittal review, RFIs, and site visits

3. Project Schedule and Budget
Anticipated Project Start: August 1, 2026

Anticipated Project Duration: Approximately 18 months

Construction Budget Range: $1.1 - 1.3 Million

Proposers should include a proposed design schedule consistent with the overall project timeline above, identifying key milestones (schematic design, design development, construction documents, and permitting).

4. Proposal Requirements
Proposals should be concise and should not exceed 10 single-sided pages, excluding resumes and required forms. Proposals should include:

1. Cover Letter
Identify the firm, primary contact, office location, and commitment to complete the work.

2. Firm Qualifications
Describe the firm's experience with EMS, fire station, public safety, healthcare, municipal, and comparable tenant-improvement projects.

3. Project Team
Identify the project manager, principal architect, key personnel, and subconsultants. Include each team member's role, qualifications, availability, and Washington professional license information.

4. Relevant Project Experience
Provide three to five comparable projects completed within the last ten years. Include project size, construction cost, completion date, services provided, and owner reference.

5. Understanding of facility design elements to support Emergency Responder wellness
Describe key issues and your design ideology associated with developing facilities that support and benefit the physical/emotional/mental health of emergency responders.

6. Project Approach
Describe the proposed approach to programming, existing-condition evaluation, code review, cost control, permitting, stakeholder coordination, design, bidding, and construction administration.

7. Schedule and Availability
Provide a preliminary design and construction schedule and describe the team's current workload and ability to meet the proposed schedule.

8. References
Provide at least three client references for comparable work.

9. Interest Statement
Convey to the selection why your firm and your team members want to be a part of this project.

KCEMS is not requesting a detailed fee proposal as part of the initial qualifications-based evaluation. Fee and contract terms will be negotiated with the highest-ranked firm.

5. Evaluation Criteria
Proposals may be evaluated using the following criteria:

- Evaluation Category; Points
- Relevant firm experience; 10
- Qualifications of project team members; 20
- Understanding of key EMS issues; 20
- Proposed project approach; 20
- Interest Statement; 15
- Schedule, availability, and local responsiveness; 10
- References and past performance; 5

Total; 100
KCEMS may conduct interviews with one or more of the highest-ranked firms before making a final selection.

Selection will be based on demonstrated competence and qualifications for the requested professional services. Following selection, KCEMS will negotiate the scope, schedule, and fair and reasonable fee with the highest-ranked firm in accordance with Chapter 39.80 RCW.

6. Submission Instructions

RFP 4636

The Waste Prevention and Environmental Services department of Metro, a metropolitan service district organized under the laws of the State of Oregon and the Metro Charter, located at 600 NE Grand Avenue, Portland, OR 97232-2736, is hereby requesting proposals for Transportation, Processing, and Marketing of Ferrous Metals, Non-Ferrous Metals, Chlorofluorocarbon (CFC) Appliances and Tires on Rims at Metro South Transfer Station.

Proposals are due no later than 2:00 p.m., September 3, 2026, at BidLocker https://bidlocker.us/details/6367_4636_Transportation_Processing_And_Marketing_Of_Ferrous_Metals_Non_Ferrous_Metals_Chlorofluorocarbon_Cfc_Appliances_And_Tires_On_Rims.

A voluntary pre-bid conference for all potential prime contractors is scheduled on August 12, 2026. RSVP via BidLocker is required.

Metro is requesting proposals for transportation, processing, and marketing of ferrous metals, non-ferrous metals, Chlorofluorocarbon (CFC) appliances and tires on rims for the Waste Prevention and Environmental Services Department.

Metro intends to award a contract to a single firm to provide the required services. Metro makes no guarantee of tonnage and reserves the right to direct any portion of the ferrous metals, non-ferrous metals, CFC appliances, and tires on rims to other facilities, contractors, or programs during the contract term.

RFP documents can be viewed and downloaded from BidLocker at https://bidlocker.us/details/6367_4636_Transportation_Processing_And_Marketing_Of_Ferrous_Metals_Non_Ferrous_Metals_Chlorofluorocarbon_Cfc_Appliances_And_Tires_On_Rims

Metro may accept or reject any or all bids, in whole or in part, or waive irregularities not affecting substantial rights if such action is deemed in the public interest.

Metro extends equal opportunity to all persons and specifically encourages minority, women-owned, emerging small businesses and service disabled veteran owned businesses to access and participate in this and all Metro projects, programs and services.

Metro and its contractors will not discriminate against any person(s), employee or applicant for employment based on race, color, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, age, religion, disability, political affiliation or marital status. Metro fully complies with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and related statutes and regulations in all programs and activities. CITY OF SHERIDAN
MUNICIPAL FINANCE SOFTWARE
SUBMISSION DEADLINE:
SEPTEMBER 8, 2026 BY
3:00 P.M. PST
REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS
RFP #2026-02

POSTED: CITY OF SHERIDAN
WEBSITE www.cityofsheridanor.com ON: August 7, 2026.

A. PURPOSE

The City of Sheridan is requesting proposals for municipal finance software including conversion and implementation services, ongoing training and technical support for the system. The software will utilize fund accounting and integrate, manage and support Accounting and Utility Billing.

The City of Sheridan will hereinafter be referred to as the "City." Respondents to the RFP shall be referred to as "Vendor(s)." The Vendor to whom the contract is awarded shall be referred to as the "Contractor."

B. SCOPE OF SERVICES

All financial accounts, payables, and payroll are managed through the Administration Department and led by the Finance Director. The municipal finance software must have the capacity to help manage multiple accounts, track spending, prevent budget overruns, facilitate with forecasting, and generate reports required for compliance with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP). The City desires a system with a broad range of flexible financial reports such as budget to actuals, grant accounting, project level accounting, and month/year end, reconciling reporting capability. The City will need a software package to accommodate the following minimum requirements:

- 23 full-time, 3 part-time, and 1 contract employee
 - 8 employees use the financial system, no more than 8 concurrent users
 - 500 general ledger accounts
 - 7 bank accounts
 - 1400 vendors
 - 1600 water meters
 - 3rd party system for online utility payments, and will require a module to export and import data files
- The system should include all the following comprehensive, fully integrated systems or modules:
- General Ledger
 - Bank Reconciliation
 - Budget Preparation
 - Cash Receipting
 - Accounts Payable
 - Accounts Receivable
 - Utility Billing
 - Municipal Court
 - Fixed Assets
 - Data Export and Import
 - Alternate 1: Payroll (Vacation, Sick Leave, Multiple Bank Accounts)

The City currently utilizes Tyler Tech ERP Pro 10 software for all of the modules listed above, except for fixed assets. The proposal must include the conversion of our existing data from the current system into the vendor software. However, the City reserves the right to modify the level of detail and/or number of fiscal periods that are converted based on the City's budget and/or time requirements.

The City currently has a payroll module that is used for processing semi-monthly payroll for twenty-six (26) employees. The payroll module must accommodate payroll, track vacation and sick leave, and record benefit histories. It must also produce accurate pay stubs with all types of compensation issued and leave types and current accruals shown. Staff are also currently weighing the costs and benefits of contracting out payroll. To help facilitate this decision, the City requests that vendors provide information and pricing that includes a payroll module and a separate explanation for how the accounting software may integrate with a contracted payroll service.

Any alternate solutions that meet or exceed the outlined requirements can be submitted for consideration. The City of Sheridan is interested in all details of other innovative and original ideas above and beyond those discussed in this Request for proposal. These should all be quoted separately, providing separate pricing for purchase/acquisition, training, data conversion, additional modules, or added services, and annual support.

C. PROPOSAL EVALUATION

Proposals will be evaluated using the following evaluation criteria. Vendors should submit all information necessary for the City to evaluate the proposal based on these criteria. At a minimum, vendors should provide product information and specifications of each module (including any IT requirements, such as internet speed and server capacity), list of all municipal clients within the state of Oregon and other similar sized cities, and pricing broken down by purchase/acquisition, training, data conversion, and annual support for each module specified in this RFP.

Evaluation Criteria Maximum Points
Product features and functionality 30

Demonstrated capacity and experience 30

References from other product users 20

Price 20
Maximum Total Points: 100

D. SELECTION PROCEDURE

The City Manager, Finance Director, and Fiscal Specialist shall review and evaluate proposals based on the proposal requirements and evaluation criteria identified in this RFP. The highest-ranked proposal will be recommended for award to the City Council for a final decision. A contract will be negotiated with the selected vendor, which may include additional modules if determined to be in the best interest of the City. It is the desire of the City to have a contract finalized no later than October 9, 2026.

E. REQUIREMENTS

It is the City's express desire to enter into a contract which includes all services necessary to achieve the project goals whether or not the services are specifically outlined in this RFP. In addition, the preferred firm will be required to present its proposal to an employee group. The selected vendor may be required to sign an agreement which incorporates parts of this RFP and the selected vendor's Proposal. The agreement will also require that the selected vendor comply with applicable federal and state laws, rules and regulations.

F. SUBMISSION INSTRUCTIONS

Proposals should be submitted in a sealed envelope plainly marked "Municipal Finance Software, RFP #2026-02" addressed to:
